

Employing Personal Assistants and Tax

Disability Rights UK are working, together with the Low Income Tax Reform Group to run a series of half day events exploring the tax implications of employing a personal assistant to meet health or social needs.

These free events - aimed at disabled people employing PA's, health and/or social care professionals and independent living support services - are a must to attend to get the latest information on employer obligations. employed/self-employed, real time information, and helpful information and advice.

Places will be given on a first come first served basis
