Call for participants

User researchers want to speak to people with physical and cognitive access needs about a service for EU citizens.

The Home Office is developing a service for EU citizens to apply to stay in the UK after it leaves the EU.

To make sure the service is accessible to everyone, we are speaking to people with access needs, or who use assistive technology.

A research session normally involves talking about your experiences and then trying out a website which we are developing. It usually around 90 minutes.

As a thank you, we offer £90 shopping vouchers per research session.

If you have questions or would like to take part, please contact Gul by email at:
