

Are you self-employed / business owner with a long-term health condition or disability?

Have you been affected by changes to disability and work-related benefits?

We would like to invite you to take part in a research study about the impact of welfare reforms on working age disabled people who are self-employed or business owners, conducted by researchers in Manchester Metropolitan University, Business School.

The study aims to examine the likely impact of changes to disability and work-related benefits, such as Disability Living Allowance and Access to Work, on individual well-being, working practices and business performance.

We are looking for potential participants – UK-based disabled self-employed people and business owners – willing to take part in a confidential interview, face-to-face or over the telephone.

The interview will take no more than one hour and can be scheduled at a convenient time and place.

An executive summary of research findings will be made available to all participants.

If you are interested in taking part, or would like more information, please contact Dr Eva Kašperová at e.kasperova@mmu.ac.uk or on 0161 247 3037.
